the families of activists like Ms. Alinejad, combined with interrogation and eventual arrest, constitute acts of hostage taking.⁹⁹

Based upon both the explicit grounds for Mr. Alinejad's sentencing as well as the implicit intent to put pressure on Ms. Alinejad demonstrated by the interrogation and arrest of her family members, it is clear that Iran has targeted Plaintiff via acts of hostage taking. In particular, Mr. Alinejad's arrest, sentencing, and ongoing imprisonment are intended by Iran to compel Plaintiff to abstain from speaking out against the Iranian government, and as such, his ongoing imprisonment meets the standard of hostage taking under the FSLA.

Torture Under the FSLA

As noted above, pursuant to the FSLA, Iran may be held liable for the torture of Mr. Alinejad. Based upon the limited information available to Plaintiff regarding her brother's condition and the wealth of information regarding Iran's longstanding pattern of torture and abuse against political prisoners, Plaintiff asserts that Iran should be held responsible for her brother's ongoing pain and suffering as a victim of political hostage taking, reaching the standard of torture under the FSLA.

Level Standard

The FSLA adopts the definition of torture found in the TVPA, which itself has been established as the international standard under the U.N. Convention Against Torture:

(b) Torture.—For the purposes of this Act—
(1) the term "torture" means any act, directed against an individual in the offender's custody or physical control, by which severe pain or suffering (other than pain or suffering arising only from or incidental to, lawful sanctions, whether physical or mental), is intentionally inflicted on that individual for such
