U.S. Citizen Sentenced for Conspiring to Provide Electronic Equipment and Technology to the Government of Iran

Kashani was sentenced to federal court in Brooklyn, New York, Kamdar Amir Kashani, 44, a dual citizen of the United States and Iran, was sentenced to 30 months in prison for conspiring to illegally export U.S. goods and technology to and ports in Iran, including the Central Bank of Iran, in violation of the International Economic Power Act (IEEPA). The Central Bank of Iran is an Iranian government agency that, according to the U.S. government, has materially supported Lebanese Hezbollah and the Quds Force of Iran's Islamic Revolutionary Guards Corps, both designated terrorist organizations.

"Kashani conspired to illegally export U.S. goods and technology for the benefit of the Central Bank of Iran, a designated entity that materially supports Iranian terrorist organizations," said Assistant Attorney General Matthew C. Olson of the Justice Department's National Security Division. "The Department remains vigilant against any efforts to circumvent our export control and sanctions laws, which exist to protect the security of the United States and its allies."

Kashani denied export restrictions and sanctions against Iran's Islamic Revolutionary Guards Corps, the Quds Force, and the Central Bank of Iran. Kashani pleaded guilty to conspiracy to violate the International Economic Power Act in the Eastern District of New York. Kashani was sentenced to 30 months in prison and a $100,000 fine.

"This is a sobering reminder that illegally exporting impact on the safety of the American people," said Assistant Attorney General Matthew C. Olson of the Justice Department's National Security Division. "Kashani Amir Kashani pleaded guilty to conspiracy to violate the International Economic Power Act in the Eastern District of New York. Kashani was sentenced to 30 months in prison and a $100,000 fine."

According to court documents, between February 2018 and February 2022, Kashani conspired with others to export U.S. goods and technology to Iran, including one located in Iran. Kashani and his co-conspirators intentionally conspired to export U.S. goods and technology to Iran, including one located in Iran.
