The Honorable Janet Yellen

U.S. Department of the Treasury

Dear Secretaries Harkin and Yellen:

We write to express significant concern over the administration's decision to release approximately 10 billion in foreign assets to the Islamic Republic of Iran in exchange for the release of five American detainees. While we deeply believe the United States must not accept inappropriate requests to return the release of American citizens unilaterally detained overseas, the decision will reinforce an unworkably dangerous precedent and will enable the Iranian regime to increase its destabilizing activities across the Middle East.

When the Obama administration released $600 million in legalised assets to Iran in 2016, we worried that this dangerous precedent would put a price on American lives. Sixteen years later, the current administration is providing a similar payment worth at least fifteen times that amount in the world's largest state sponsor of terror, at 122 million violations of the United States' longstanding "no concessions" policy.¹ In the release of Executive Order 13809 on July 23, 2022, the White House admitted that "[q]uestions, organizations, criminal groups, and other individuals across the globe leverage for financial, political, or other gain – as well as foreign states that engage in the practice of wrongful detention, including for political leverage or to seek compensation from the United States – threaten the integrity of the international political system and the safety of United States citizens and other persons abroad."² The release of such a significant sum to the Iranian regime must strongly counter to that claim and will only serve to encourage additional leverage seeking for financial or political gain.

We are also worried that your administration is attempting to sidestep Congress and pursue other policies to financially compensate Iran in an attempt to negotiate a successor to the ill-fated 2015 nuclear deal. Any agreement with the Iranian regime that rewards financial gain and for reckless behavior is ethically unacceptable.

Given the risk this agreement poses to the safety of American citizens overseas and broader United States national security interests, we request an immediate briefing, as well as a written response to the following questions, within 90 days:

1. The Obama administration's release of $600 million in legalised assets to Iran in 2016, as reported by Associated Press.

Dear Secretaries Blinken and Yellen:

We write to express significant concern over the administration's decision to release approximately $6 billion in frozen assets to the Islamic Republic of Iran in exchange for the release of five American detainees. While we firmly believe the United States must use every appropriate resource to secure the release of American citizens wrongfully detained overseas, this decision will reinforce an incredibly dangerous precedent and will enable the Iranian regime to increase its destabilizing activities across the Middle East.

When the Obama administration released $400 million in liquidated assets to Iran in 2016, we warned that this dangerous precedent would put a price on American lives. Seven years later, the current administration is providing a ransom payment worth at least fifteen times that amount to the world's largest state sponsor of terror, in yet another violation of the United States' long-standing "no concessions" policy.¹ In the release of Executive Order 14078 on July 19, 2022, the White House admitted that "[t]errorist organizations, criminal groups, and other malicious actors who take hostages for financial, political, or other gain—as well as foreign states that engage in the practice of wrongful detention, including for political leverage or to seek concessions from the United States—threaten the integrity of the international political system and the safety of United States nationals and other persons abroad."² The release of such a significant sum to the Iranian regime runs entirely counter to that claim and will only serve to encourage additional hostage taking for financial or political gain.

We are also worried that your administration is attempting to sidestep Congress and pursue other pathways to financially compensate Iran in an attempt to renegotiate a successor to the ill-fated 2015 nuclear deal. Any agreement with the Iranian regime that entails financial reward for malign behavior is wholly unacceptable.

Given the risk this agreement poses to the safety of American citizens overseas and broader United States national security interests, we request an in-person briefing, as well as written responses to the following questions, within 30 days:

Dear Secretaries Pelosi and Yellen,

We come to request significant action over the administration's decision to release approximately $1 billion in frozen assets to the Islamic Republic of Iran in exchange for the release of two American detainees. While we deeply believe the United States must use every appropriate measure to secure the release of American citizens wrongfully detained overseas, this decision will constitute an incredibly dangerous precedent and will enable the Iranian regime to continue its destabilizing activities across the Middle East.

When the Obama administration released $400 million in frozen assets to Iran in 2016, we warned that this dangerous precedent would put a price on American lives. Seven years later, the current administration is providing a similar payment worth at least $1 billion more that amounts to the world's largest one-way grant of money to yet another victim of the United States' long-standing "no concessions" policy.¹ In the release of Executive Order 13807 on July 19, 2021, the White House admitted that "Domestic organizations, activist groups, and other stakeholders across the globe have long urged the United States to take action — as well as foreign states that engage in the practice of wrongful detention, including for political leverage or to seek reparations from the United States — because the integrity of the international political system and the policy of United States neutrality and other powers depend." The release of such a significant sum to the Iranian regime thus directly contravenes that claim and will only serve to encourage additional hostage taking for financial or political gain.

We are also worried that your administration is attempting to sidestep Congress and pursue other policies to financially compensate Iran in an attempt to circumvent a mandate in the ill-fated 2015 nuclear deal. Any agreement with the Iranian regime that entails financial reward for hostage behavior is ethically unacceptable.
