Israel fears Biden will say the nuclear deal, but US states deal but on the agenda

Political

A National Security Council (NSC) spokesperson told Fox News Digital that the administration will "continue to confront Iran's behavior in the region, protect our troops — and support the brave Iranian people demanding their basic rights and dignity — which the regime has long denied them."

"Let's hope what the administration is signaling between the lines about the deal remains true the moment (Iranian leader Ay) Khamenei picks up the phone," Talebi added. "It's high time the administration see the linkage between the nuclear, regional, domestic and other challenges and formally pull the plug on an accord that would enrich Iran's apparatus of domestic suppression and foreign aggression. Anything less than that is just talk."

A video that surfaced online last week appeared to show President Joe Biden saying that the deal is dead, but we're not going to announce it."

An Israeli official who took part in closed discussions about Iran told Israeli newspaper Haaretz that the government understood that despite Biden's comments, the impression remained that a significant test in the nuclear deal is coming within a few months.

Yet U.S. officials seem to think otherwise

Politics media.

"Unless the Biden administration works with its partners to trigger 'snapback' at the U.N. Security Council, the JCPOA (Joint Comprehensive Plan of Action) will sadly always be the on the table."

A National Security Council (NSC) spokesperson told Fox News Digital that the administration will "continue to confront Iran's behavior in the region, protect our troops ... and support the brave Iranian people demanding their basic rights and dignity – which the regime has long denied them."

moment (Iranian leader Ali) Khamenei picks up the phone," Talebli added. "It's high time the administration see the linkage between the nuclear, regional, domestic and other challenges and formally pull the plug on an accord that would enrich Iran's apparatus of domestic suppression and foreign aggression. Anything less than that is just talk."

A video that surfaced online last week appeared to show President Joe Biden saying that the deal "is dead, but we're not going to announce it."

An Israeli official who took part in closed discussions about Iran told Israeli newspaper Haaretz that the government understood that despite Biden's comments, the impression remained that a significant twist in the nuclear deal is coming within a few months.

Yet U.S. officials seem to think otherwise.

"The Iranians killed the opportunity for a swift return to mutual compliance with the JCPOA in September when they turned their backs on a deal that was on the table."
